Here's the latest update I've received on this (two hours ago):

Description of threat/event:

North Sydney, NS : Marine Atlantic Inc. has received information from the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP) that a "Convoy for Freedom" protest is planned for Saturday at 09:00 ET. Cape Breton Regional Municipality (CBRM) police and local RCMP are on site. Marine Atlantic Inc. have extra security in place. There are protesters on site (about 12 cars and pick-up trucks). They have blocked the access road leading to the ferry facility. Police are taking action to tow the vehicles. All the passenger vehicles for the next departure were already on the facility property when the blockade happened. No impact to the ferry operations at this point.
